

JAS. C. NESBITT CONFESSES TO SLAYING WIFE

For Past Three Weeks
Has Helped Search
For Murderer

TROY, O., March 12. (AP)—According to County Detective James Foute, Jacob C. Nesbitt tonight confessed to the murder of his wife, Frances Drake Nesbitt, graduate of Ohio State University. Her body was found in a bathtub of water at the Nesbitt home three weeks ago tonight by Nesbitt himself.

The confession came after five hours of questioning in the Nesbitt home, according to Ora Slater, Cincinnati private detective. He said Nesbitt broke down completely and made a clean breast of it. Nesbitt, according to Slater declared he did not know with what he hit his wife.

The murder occurred Friday morning after Nesbitt and his wife had arisen.

"We have quarreled ever since we were married," Slater quoted Nesbitt as having said. "We quarreled over everything, business and personal matters."

"We quarreled Thursday night and we got up Friday morning in the same mood. I got mad and hit Frances in the face with my fist. Then everything got red."

"I have only a hazy remembrance of what happened after I struck her with my fist."

For three weeks, the Nesbitt murder has presented a baffling wall of mystery to officials who have worked feverishly to unearth a tangible clue.

The point had almost been reached where everyone concerned believed the murder would remain unsolved forever.

Nesbitt himself has been the most active in helping to solve the case. He has worked with newspapermen and with Slater ever since the latter came here to take charge of the case a week ago.

He had never been accused of the murder, and today was the first time he had been questioned at any length. At the corner's inquest, he answered questions apparently in a straightforward manner, and the coroner's verdict as rendered at the close was that Mrs. Nesbitt had died from concussion of the brain, the result of having been struck by an unknown instrument in the hands of an unknown person.

Nesbitt retained L. H. Shipman, an attorney, shortly after he found his wife's body and the latter presented officials from questioning Nesbitt, the day of his wife's funeral.

Officials were not ready to announce when a charge will be filed against Nesbitt. It probably will be tomorrow. At the corner's next step then will be the calling of a grand jury session.

PUBLIC PROHIBITION AIRING EXPECTED

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—Confidence that the whole prohibition question will be aired publicly by the senate judiciary committee was expressed today by authors of modification bills after a sub-committee to consider those measures had been appointed.

Coincident with these expressions, Assistant Secretary Andrews of the treasury issued a release against "any howlers" in federal prohibition enforcement. He called upon the state authorities to do the policing while the government concentrated on checking on illegal sources of supply.

The judiciary sub-committee, with Senators Means, Republican, Colorado, as chairman, was instructed to consider the modification bills and make recommendations as to public hearings.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT IS IGNORED IN BILL

Washington, March 12. (AP)—Chairman Phillips of the senate education committee jolted the hope of advocates of a federal education department today by introducing a federal education bill making no mention of such a department. It merely would provide extended aid to education and research work along the present lines. The present education bureau in the interior department would have an additional $250,000 and additional personnel.

WRITTEN CONFESSION RELATES DETAILS OF MISS DIETRICH CASE

Defendant Admits Cutting up Body After She Killed Self

PHILADELPHIA, March 12. (AP)—The written confession of David L. Marshall that he cut up the body of Anna May Dietrich after she had committed suicide, alleged to have been made to the district attorney of Delaware county, was read at his trial today.

It was the first of two confessions he is alleged to have made, the second having been obtained by the district attorney of Philadelphia. The second confession has never been made public.

Charles Edwin Fox, the Philadelphia district attorney in addressing the jury yesterday charged that Marshall murdered the 35-year-old milliner by choking her.

Marshall, who is charged with having killed Miss Dietrich in his chiropractic office when, he said, she threatened to expose their relations, had been calmly listening to the court proceedings ever since the trial started last Monday. Today, however, he squirmed in his chair as William Taylor, district attorney of Delaware county recounted the incidents prior to Marshall's confession and told how the prisoner said when he finally admitted he cut up the body of the woman.

In the confession read to the jury today Marshall said that he had met the girl seven or eight years ago. He said that "fearing their friendship would reach serious proportions after knowing her a few years he told her that they must break their relationship socially but not professionally."

"Fearing the medical profession would blame chiropractic treatment for the young woman's death," said Marshall in the statement, "and fearing the notoriety that would ensue, I decided to leave the body there (Marshall's office) for the time being."

Later in the statement, Marshall asserted he had "found a small bottle containing a white powder which he presumed was poison."

The confession then went into detail concerning the cutting up and distributing of the body and disposal of the knife and saw.

LIQUOR IS SOLD IN HALLS OF CONGRESS IS CLAIM OF BLEASE

Offers to Buy Drink For Newspaperman Under
Capitol Dome

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—Liquor is sold daily "under the very dome of the capitol," and Senator Blease, Democrat, South Carolina, who makes that charge is willing to prove it to any doubting Thomas by buying him a drink in the halls of congress.

"Prohibition is a joke," he told the Washington Postman's Association last night, adding that it would remain so until the men who voted for prohibition stop drinking liquor.

"The trouble with congress," he continued, "is that they vote dry and drink wet."

Bootleggers, he said, sell their wares "every day in the halls and senate office building," and they come around to him daily and ask: "How much do you need today Senator?"

To a newspaperman who expressed incredulity, the senator later said: "If you don't think I mean what I say, come up to the capitol with me and I'll buy a drink."

About the same time Senator Blease was addressing the police, William B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League was delivering that organization's second attack in a few hours on the polls being taken by the mass newspaper on the subject of total prohibition as against beer and light wines. He told a radio audience that straw ballots "are as useless as a straw hat in a blizzard."

MAGNUS TO CONTINUE HIS FIGHT FOR SEAT

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—Defeated in sub-committee Magnus Johnson has determined to carry to the senate elections committee his fight for the seat held by Senator Schall, Republican, Minnesota. Should he lose there, the former Farmer-Labor senator then plans to take the case ultimately must be settled as to whether Mr. Schall, who was certified as having been elected, is entitled to the seat.

The plans of the one-time Minnesota senator were disclosed here today by Chairman Deneen, of the sub-committee and others. Senator Deneen said the sub-committee was preparing a report to the entire committee and expected to report it next Thursday.

FREED OF MURDER, GETS LIFE TERM FOR ROBBERY

Boston, March 12. (AP)—Frank Creorian, alias Frank Corey, of Worcester, acquitted last August of the murder of Mrs. Mae Price, theatrical company wardrobe mistress, was convicted tonight of robbing the convicted woman. Judge David A. Bourke sentenced him to life imprisonment, and pending exceptions to the supreme court, ordered him held in $100,000 bail.

FARM RELIEF LEADERS WILL MAKE CHANGES

Bill is Expected to be Completed Within a Few Days

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—Farm relief leaders of the midwest have agreed to important changes in the legislative program which will be laid before the house agriculture committee in a completed bill within a few days. Although the delegation from eleven states had not reached an accord tonight on all points, it was learned that the bill would contain a clause placing an embargo on importation of corn for a year.

The measure will retain a federal farm board, with authority to contract for exporting surplus crops, any losses to be borne by a revolving fund. This fund would be initiated by an appropriation of $250,000,000 and permanently financed through an equalization fee paid by manufacturers processing agricultural commodities. It is expected, however, that the equalization fee to be deducted from the price received from the farmer will apply only to four commodities—wheat, cotton, hogs and cattle. Corn would receive the same benefit in a different form. One provision under consideration would have the board buy directly a certain quantity of corn, but there is considerable sentiment among the delegates to maintain the contract method of disposing of all crops, with the farmers' co-operative organizations utilized whenever possible.

Another change in the bill would fix the maximum price to be paid for the surplus of products classified as basic commodities. This price would be the world market quotation plus the import tariff on the crop affected and the cost of transportation. The bill will be a compromise on various suggestions brought out during a week of hearings before the agriculture committee and the conference among delegates of the corn belt committee and the Des Moines committee of 22.

The midwesterners did not appear before the committee today but gave way to Carl Vrooman, of Illinois, a former assistant secretary of agriculture. He endorsed the Robinson-Oldfield bill to establish a farmers' export corporation with authority to lend money to European purchasers of surplus American crops.

DANCE HALL GIRLS REFUSE MOVIE JOBS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 12. (AP)—Casting directors for Famous Players-Lasky film studio staged an after-dark raid on dance halls and night clubs of Los Angeles last night seeking realistic girl figures "young enough and hard enough," for a scene in a woman's reformatory.

The raid was staged after the central casting office, with more than five thousand women on its lists, had found only 12 who were able to play the parts.

Paying their admission to a number of cheap dance halls, the casting director and his aides picked out the girls one by one, and asked them if they wanted an opportunity to work in the films.

The majority of them thought they were being hoaxed.

"Gwan" retorted one, "all the big butter and egg men have that line."

Others declared that they could earn more than the extras, $7.50 per day, by continuing their dance hall life where they receive a nickel a dance for acting as a model for stray men and half the price of "soft" drinks they induce the men to buy.

$100,000 WORTH OF MORPHINE SEIZED

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 12. (AP)—Federal agents seized a trunk containing $100,000 worth of morphine and arrested two men here late today.

The trunk was traced to St. Louis from New York and the federal operatives declared its seizure and the arrests have paved the way for arrest in New York within a few days of the leader of a narcotic syndicate.

The men arrested are Frank Ward, 46, and Arthur Gladys, 38, negro, both of St. Louis.

The trunk, containing 150 oz. of morphine, was seized a few minutes after it had been delivered to Ward's room by an expressman.

CUSTOMS OFFICIALS TAKE CARGO OF CHAMPAGNE

New York, March 12. (AP)—Customs officials today announced the seizure of champagne estimated to value more than $100,000, "super club" prices which was brought into this port aboard the President Polk and the President Hayes, both Dollar Line steamships now in the round-the-world tourist trade.

The champagne, totalling more than 400 cases, was in 200 barrels marked "crude alum," "aluminum" and "colored earth."

Dawes Makes Watson Face Speaker's Chair

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—Invoking a senate rule which has been much abused, Vice-President Dawes today compelled Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana to face the chair while speaking.

Questioning Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, who was in back row Senator Watson began speaking with his expansive back toward the vice-president.

"The senator will face the chair," interrupted Vice-President Dawes.

"Mr. President," bowed Senator Watson, turning around, and then turned back toward Senator Fess.

"The senator will face the chair," reiterated the vice-president while floor and galleries laughed.

"And the senator will also please speak louder," came from the Democratic side.

"But, Mr. President, how can I?" asked the perplexed Indiana senator.

"He's back there and you're up there, and there is only one of me,"

"It is the rule that the senator must face the chair," intoned the vice-president.

"Well I am against that rule," protested Senator Watson, but compromised by standing on the bias, with one side directed toward the chair and the other inclined toward Senator Fess.

Later the vice-president explained that the rule was for the benefit of the "hard working reporters of the senate who have a very difficult time as it is catching all that is said in debate."

REVELS OF MOTHER WITH GROCER CLERK RELATED IN COURT

Daughter's Romance With Persian Prince is Also Recited

CHICAGO, March 12. (AP)—A mother who revels with a grocery clerk today succeeded in the story of a daughter's romance with a millionaire Persian prince in testimony given at a chancery hearing involving Gertrude Dolan, a dancer and wife of Horace Whitmore of New York.

The mother, Mrs. Thomas C. Dolan, has sued her husband who is president of the Dolan printing company for divorce. The chancery hearing followed Mrs. Dolan's demand for sole possession of a $50,000 home in River Forest, a suburb, deeded to her by her daughter, Mrs. Whitmore, but which the latter declares was a joint gift to both her parents.

The home was one of several costly gifts later at the feet of Dolan who was a guest at the Dolan home for three years.

In a cross bill to his wife's suit, Mr. Dolan alleged his wife had a fondness for indiscreet parties. The charged gained substance today testimony of Mrs. Minerva Price, who told of observing gaieties last summer in which Mrs. Dolan and "Wallie" Clipp, a grocer's clerk, appeared as central figures.

"Wallie" was a daily visitor at the Dolan home as well as a constant escort of Mrs. Dolan when she attended parties of her "five hundred club," according to Mrs. Price's testimony.

Testimony by the plaintiff chronicled the story of her daughter's romance with the Persian prince, who met the dancer in Bombay six years ago and followed her here to woo her with princely gifts until the fact that he was already married became known, ending the affair.

The hearing was continued until next Thursday.

KLAN IS THRU WITH POLITICS, SAYS EVANS

DALLAS, Texas, March 12. (AP)—The Ku Klux Klan is thru with politics, Hiram W. Evans, Imperial Wizard of the organization said tonight.

"The politics of the Klan have been changed and it is now completely out of politics," Dr. Evans declared. "It is not interested in the candidacy of any man or woman."

The Imperial wizard said the Klan would not enter a slate in the Texas elections this year. In 1925 the Klan supported candidates were generally victorious in their campaigns for state offices. Two years later the pendulum swung the other way and Klan candidates met sweeping reverses at the polls. Notable among the victorious anti-Klan candidates was Governor Miriam A. Ferguson.

Despite its reverses in politics the Klan is growing in Texas, Dr. Evans said. In other states the membership waxes and wanes, according to local conditions, he stated. In an address at Dallas, Klan headquarters tonight, Dr. Evans voiced opposition to entry of the United States into the world court.

GRANDMOTHER WINS BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT

Newark, N. J., March 12. (AP)—Mrs. Margaret A. Campbell, of Orange, a grandmother, was awarded $20,000 damages by St. Louis today in her breach of promise suit against George K. Fitzsimmons of Summit.

She sued for $50,000.

Fitzsimmons admitted having paid attentions to Mrs. Campbell for 15 years. He said he would sign an agreement to pay her $75 a month for life, but would not marry her.

BOY WHO ESCAPED FROM ST. CHARLES CAUGHT

Chicago, March 12. (AP)—Frank Bajin, 16, whose escape Monday from the State Training School for Boys at St. Charles was effected by friends, was captured here tonight. He was riding in a stolen automobile with two friends.

Two loaded revolvers and a supply of ammunition were found in the car.

NEW RENDERS REPORT, SENATOR INTRODUCES BILL FOR REDUCTION

Postmaster General Believes
Postal Losses Will be Less

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—Postmaster General New today reported on his study of the postal rate structure in response to a senate resolution and at the same time Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, introduced a bill to lower the rates.

Despite a decline during the past six months of 1925, Mr. New predicted that the postal business eventually would reach a normal status under the increased rates effected by the last congress to meet salary increases and estimated that the total revenue for the present fiscal year ending June 30 would be $673,876,987 compared with $592,914,477 last year which was $49,533,090 less than operating expenses.

He explained that the estimate was based on actual receipts for the first six months and asserted that since the first of the year, there has been a "slight decrease" in postal revenues which, if continued, would reduce the total "several million dollars."

The report showed that the department had handled 721,279,719 fewer pieces of mail in the first half of 1925, when the new rates were effective than during the same period in 1924, under lower rate schedules. Postal business took a sharp slump immediately after adoption of the high rates, he said but it has increased subsequently with indications that it will return to normal.

This was particularly true of third class mail, including circulars and other printed matter, not including newspapers and periodicals. During the first quarter after the new rates were adopted a decrease of 3.11 per cent compared with the same quarter in 1924 was shown and for the succeeding quarter of 5.03 per cent, but for the last quarter the volume increased 4.11 per cent over the preceding year's comparable figures.

DYNAMITE OPENS ICE GORGE AT OIL CITY

OIL CITY, Pa., March 12. (AP)—Seven hundred pounds of dynamite today cleared all but a small portion of the newly formed ice pack which has been holding up channel cutting operations in the huge Allegheny river gorge here. One charge tomorrow is expected to entirely remove the smaller gorge formed at the southern end of the main jam from ice loosened in the channel blasting.

Dynamiting of the main gorge, it is expected will be resumed tomorrow under the direction of the local citizens committee. No further charges were placed today, due to the absence in Montreal of Dr. H. T. Barnes. He was expected back here tomorrow, when dynamiting will probably be resumed. The thermometer was low today with the river near the thirteen foot level. There was not much sunshine.

COPS WATCH WOMEN GET THEIR MARCELLES

CHICAGO, March 12. (AP)—Heavy-touted patrolmen, brass buttons and all, sat today on slender-legged French chairs in drab Louis Quatorze rooms and blushed furiously while fair patrons arrived for marcelles, manieres and permanent waves. Some actually gasped for breath in the perfume of the situation doffed heavy uniform coats and reclined at ease. They had the job because some beauty shop owners insisted that 60 cents, instead of $1.00 is a fair price for hair curling. The policemen were ordered to guard several south side shops today following Terrorist activities last night in which bricks were hurled through windows and pistols were fired into the shops charging the lower prices.

Proprietors of these shops charged that their higher-priced rivals were responsible.

CONDITION OF COL. COOLIDGE IS IMPROVED

Heart Action Slower
and Stronger, States
Physician

PLYMOUTH, Vt., March 12. (AP)—Colonel John C. Coolidge, father of the president, rallied today after a sickness of many months had developed critical symptoms. Tonight his physician, Dr. Albert M. Cram of Bridgewater, announced that the colonel's condition showed definite improvement.

As the physician later in the afternoon left the Coolidge home after paying his second visit of the day, he gave a reassuring bulletin to a group of neighbors and newspapermen.

"Colonel Coolidge's heart action is much slower than it was last night, and his heart action is stronger," he said. "I feel that his condition is better than it has been for several days. His pulse is regular, and he seems cheerful. He is not suffering pain."

Washington, March 12. (AP)—President Coolidge talked by telephone today with his father who is in Plymouth, Vt., and was encouraged over the improvement shown.

Unless Colonel Coolidge's condition should become worse, the president does not intend to go to Plymouth, now reported to him as virtually snowbound.

The world received today over the private wire to the white house was that the colonel was brighter and better with his pulse and temperature almost normal.

McFADDEN BILL GOES TO SENATE CARRYING SEVERAL AMENDMENTS

Measure Refers to Branch
Banking in Federal Reserve System

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—Differences in the senate banking committee on the question of branch banking within the federal reserve system finally were composed today, and the amended McFadden bill was reported to the senate.

The two major provisions referring to branch banking by national banks and the extent to which state banks in entering the system may retain branches, were completely rewritten upon the insistence of Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, author of the federal reserve act.

As the measure reached the senate it proposed that the national banks may maintain such branches as they have in operation at the time of the approval of the new act; that state banks converted into national banks may retain the branches they have at the time of the approval of the new act; that state banks alter the approval of the act may establish new branches within the limits of the city in which the parent bank is located; and that in states which prohibit branch banking by state institutions when any national bank has branches within the city of the parent institution, other national banks within the same city may establish like branches.

At the conclusion of Senator Gooding's four hour address Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, defended the commission as "functioning properly" and being fairly capable in regulating railroads. He characterized as a "scare-crow" the fear expressed by the bill's proponents that requested railroad rate schedules would render the Panama Canal useless.

SHERIFF STOPS PLANS FOR STAGING BOUT

MIAMI, Fla., March 12. (AP)—Sheriff Henry Chase this afternoon wrote "finis" to the proposed ten round no decision bout here tonight between Gene Tunney and W. L. (Young) Stripling. The sheriff terminated three days of futile efforts to put on the fight when he appeared at the last of many conferences and emphatically asserted that he would enforce the orders of Governor John W. Martin and not allow the fight to be held even should a way out of the tangle be found.

"Tiny" Parker, Miami agent who handled the advance sale of tickets, said that about $22,000 worth of tickets had been sold up to the time the fight was called off. Steps are being taken by city officials to handle the matter of refund in such a manner as to assure the ticket holders of a full refund.

BUREAUCRACY ASSAILED BY SENATOR BORAH

Lynchburg, Va., March 12. (AP)—A federal department of education means federal control of educational affairs, Senator Borah of Idaho declared here tonight in an address in which he assailed bureaucracy in this country as a matter of deep concern to every one who still believes in free institutions.

"There is surely an activity of body or mind, but is either already, or proposed to be, brought under the surveillance of the government thru some bureau," he said. "Bureaucratic control is bad at best. But it is peculiarly vicious when it takes over and places under national control those things which ought to remain with the state and that is its inevitable tendency."

GERMAN REFUSAL OF COMPROMISE OFFERS MAKES CRISIS GRAVE

Chamberlain Admits Paral-
yzation of Locarno
Atmosphere

GENEVA, Switzerland, March 12. (AP)—Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary indicated his belief in a confidential talk with the British newspapermen early this (Saturday) morning that the crisis over the question of increasing the number of league of nations council seats has reached the proportions of a disaster, with paralyzation of the atmosphere created by the Locarno accords.

The crisis took on a grave aspect when the German statesmen last night rejected the compromise offer made by the allied delegates, whereby Poland would be given non-permanent seat on the council.

According to information from reliable sources, this compromise also involves the rejection, temporarily at least of the Spanish and Brazilian claims for permanent seats. The announcement of the compromise immediately caused the delegation in Spanish circles to infer that Spain would retire from the league unless her demand was recognized.

Alfonso Mello Franco representing Brazil would not comment beyond the declaration that he would at all events insist on Brazil being given the permanent seat which has always been held for the United States.

Premier Briand of France looking worn and downcast, made known the critical development in the negotiations in such tones of solemnity as to make the announcement deeply tragic.

"The Germans have not accepted," he said, "yet the compromise which was offered them represented the extreme limit of our concession. I know nothing about the future, but I hope sincerely that the conversations may be continued."

The German delegates confirmed Mr. Briand's announcement, saying they too had gone to the limit. Nevertheless, they denied that they were contemplating leaving Geneva precipitately today. They were willing to await counter proposals from the other signatories of the Rhine pact. They thought that perhaps they might re-meet Mr. Briand, Sir Austen Chamberlain and other delegates.

COMMISSION ATTACKED IN GOODING DEBATE

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—The interstate commerce commission came under sharp attack today in the senate during debate on the Gooding long and short haul bill.

During adoption of the measure which would prohibit railroads from imposing higher rates for short than for long hauls in order to compete with water transportation Senator Gooding, Republican, Idaho, declared that "some times I am afraid there is much to the contention that railroad influence dominates in a large measure the appointment of members of that commission. He charged that the commission threatened to destroy water transportation facilities by permitting railroads to discriminate in rates in the intermountain section.

At the conclusion of Senator Gooding's four hour address Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, defended the commission as "functioning properly" and being fairly capable in regulating railroads. He characterized as a "scare-crow" the fear expressed by the bill's proponents that requested railroad rate schedules would render the Panama Canal useless.

HOUSE CONSIDERS WHITE RADIO BILL

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—Consideration of the White bill to regulate radio was begun today by the house with a number of amendments regarding its progress.

Without a record vote the house adopted an amendment by Representative Lehlbach, Republican, New Jersey, to provide that after passage of the measure all existing broadcasting licenses upon expiration must come under provision of the bill. This is designed to prevent existing broadcasters from escaping control of the regulatory machinery proposed in the measure.

An amendment by Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas to provide that slanderous or abusive language used by a broadcaster would be punishable under federal libel and slander laws, was rejected on a point of order.

DISAPPROVES ONE PLAN, RECOMMENDS THE OTHER

Washington, March 12. (AP)—Disapproval of a project to deepen shipping channels of Lakes Superior, Michigan, Huron and Erie and approval of a project to improve the St. Mary's river to provide better transportation facilities between Duluth and Buffalo were recommended in a report submitted to congress today by Major General Harry Taylor, chief of army engineers.

General Taylor suggested the expenditure of $4,921,000 with $75,000 annually for maintenance.

THREE KILLED OVER MEXICAN CHURCH RULING

Nayarit, Mexico, March 12. (AP)—Three representatives of the state of Nayarit were killed and a number of persons injured, one girl probably fatally, in a riot resulting from orders to a Catholic church at Jalisco to close its doors to non-church followers.

This is believed to be the first bloodshed in the nation as a result of the stringent closing laws imposed upon churches by the national government and is the first on the west coast of the Mexico.

A Catholic priest at Jalisco had failed to comply with the closing law and was standing his ground against presidential orders with the backing of his flock. Upon the appearance of the representatives of the government at Jalisco they were met by an infuriated mob of men, women and children which demanded their withdrawal. These representatives were the town's mayor, whose name was not learned, Congressman Porres, and a friend, Senator Ortega.

The three men faced the gathering and read the authorization of the government's closing of the church. Soldiers in sufficient numbers to protect the dignitaries were not available.

In the emergency the mayor of the town was called upon to back up with his authority the representatives from the state capital.

At first he sided with the demands of the worshippers, that they not be molested. Later, he convinced of his obligation to back up the orders of the president and of the state governor, he reversed his decision and also demanded the closing of the offending church.

When the mayor turned against them the people fell upon the trio. Before calm was restored the three dignitaries had been so badly mutilated that they died before medical attention could be rendered.

Several women and numbers of children received serious injuries. The body of the slain congressman has been removed to this city, where it lies in state.

Sanguinary encounters between Catholic church adherents and state and governmental military powers are becoming acute in Nayarit.

CURRAN RESIGNS IMMIGRATION POST

NEW YORK, March 12. (AP)—Henry H. Curran, immigration commissioner at Ellis Island, announced today that he had forwarded his resignation to President Coolidge to become effective March 31. In order to become counsel of the City Club.

WASHINGTON, March 11. (AP)—Commissioner Curran was appointed by President Harding and assumed office on July 1, 1919. He was reappointed by President Coolidge in December, 1923.

He declined to say whether he would make any recommendations or changes in policies at Ellis Island prior to the date his resignation becomes effective.

Mr. Curran recently came into prominence during the controversy over the detention of Vera, Countess of Cathcart, at Ellis Island on the grounds of "moral turpitude." He denied that he had ordered her detention and said he would go before congress to have a bill introduced, which would give him absolute authority to decide all cases of appeal by immigrants and visitors detained at Ellis Island.

DENMARK TO ABOLISH ARMY AND NAVY

Copenhagen, Denmark, March 12. (AP)—The folketing (house of commons) today passed the bill which calls for virtual abolition of the Danish army and navy, leaving only frontier and customs guards and a number of vessels for coast duty. The vote was 75 to 71.

TO THE AID OF THE FORESTS

It is a lamentable fact that in many states thoughtful citizens are doing their best to replenish the country's fast vanishing forests. This activity is most noticeable in Michigan, where municipal and county forests are being created, and chapters of the Junior Woodmen League are taking over entire tracts for reforestation.

Waste and cut-over land is being replanted in pine and spruce trees. The Boy Scouts are assisting with the planting in many places. In one community eighty citizens turned out for a day to plant six acres with white pine seedlings.

timber supply, but while they are maturing, they will make attractive parks, where the people may rather enjoy the out-of-doors. Care should be taken, however, and no doubt will be taken to guard against the fact that is the greatest enemy to our timber supply.

It is something that could be done, even in Mexican country, to add to the work. Farmers in many states are encouraged to set out small tracts of land in orchard trees, especially land that is unsuitable for agriculture. There is no doubt that in this country that could be so used, it might be possible to set out a forest around the cities.

There is only a single row of trees around Lake Michigan, and each row of trees would add to the beauty of the park, but would also aid in holding the soil and keeping it from washing down and filling up the lake.

"ALL THE FACTS"

The latest journalistic experiment, made in Washington, D. C., by the well known correspondent David Lawrence and a group of competent associates, is usually interesting. At least, it is to the profession.

The name of the new enterprise is "The United States Daily," and its motto is "All the Facts—No Opinion." That gives a line on it.

It is, however, a newspaper intended not for the public, but for the times, such as newspaper men, bankers, statisticians, educators, in fact, those constituting a special group. It does not handle general news, but only governmental news, and handles it in a dry, official way. It may succeed with the special clientele, as it is intended to do so. For general readers, no newspaper has ever yet succeeded without presenting a large amount of "human interest" stuff, personal matters, incidents, entertainments, etc., along with mere facts.

The facts are doubtless the most essential material of journalism. But they are only the skeleton of the modern newspaper, which has to be clothed in flesh and blood and given an ever-changing play of human expression to make it acceptable to the average reader.

MRS. MEDILL MCCORMICK FOR SENATOR MCKINLEY

Following a speech on abstract governmental theory before the Women's Republican Club in Chicago, Mrs. Medill McCormick was besieged with demands from a number of her friends that she get down to brass tacks about the Illinois situation, particularly the Republican senatorial primary.

She complied. For the first time in anything like a public manner she made it known that she is actively assisting United States Senator William B. McKinley for re-nomination. Some time before the campaign opened, she indicated she would be with him, but for some time there has been a question in the minds of politicians whether her support

MISSOURI TOWN IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Macon, Mo., March 12. (AP)—News reached this city late this afternoon that College Mound, a town of 145 inhabitants in the southern part of Macon county, had been virtually destroyed by fire late Thursday night.

It is reported that every business house in the little town with the exception of one, was swept away in the path of the flames. A desperate effort on the part of the citizens who formed a bucket brigade since made but to no avail. It was said that the fire started from a defective flue in the village postoffice.

No loss of life was reported.

would be wholehearted. She eliminated that question.

She also expressed positively her conviction that the world court issue has no place in the Illinois primary this year. She said that with that out of the way, the question before the Republican voters is solely the question of the merits of the two candidates; and on this basis she preferred Senator McKinley to his opponent, Col. Frank La Follette.

Mrs. McCormick showed her representation of the program of Senators Borah and Shipstead and their associates, who declined invitations to address big protest meetings during the battle against the world court before the vote was taken in the senate, and then following the vote, laid out a plan for a nation-wide speaking tour, directed particularly against such men as Senators McKinley, Loomis, and Butler, who had voted for the court.

She implied a belief that this group had been inspired more by politics than by devotion to the cause for which they are speaking.

"We are confronted in Illinois with a most complex set of issues," said Mrs. McCormick, "and the only thing lacking to make it hopelessly confusing for the voters was George Brennan's announcement of his candidacy on a world platform."

"So far as the Republican primary is concerned, the essential thing to do is to blow away the smoke screen of internationalism. The question here is whether McKinley or Frank Smith shall represent us in the United States senate. Because of his record I prefer Senator McKinley."

PRESBYTERIANS MAKE REPORT ON UNREST

CHICAGO, March 12. (AP)—A report on the spiritual condition of the Presbyterian church of the United States of America and the causes making for unrest, was unanimously adopted tonight by a special commission.

The 15 members of the commission appointed at the last general assembly by Dr. Charles K. Eberman, Princeton, N. J., moderator to study conditions which have arisen partly as a result of discussions between Modernists and fundamentalists, have been in session since the first of the week. The result of their deliberations will not be made public until a report has been made to the general assembly at Baltimore in May.

Controversies between the Fundamentalists and the Modernists came to a head with the action of the general assembly which ruled that the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, a Baptist, must either join the church or give up his pastorate at the First Presbyterian church in New York City.

Dr. Fosdick gave up the pastorate but conditions were such that at the last general assembly it was decided to conduct an investigation.

SENATOR MCKINLEY A REGULAR

Is Working With Republican Administration

Note: This is an extract from a speech delivered in Chicago, Saturday, February 27th, by Senator W. B. McKinley in his campaign for re-election.

In the past five years federal taxes have been cut in half and the tax law just agreed upon makes a further reduction of 11 percent, while at the same time state and county taxes in many states have been doubled. A Republican majority in Congress has made possible this leaving of the people's money in their own pockets. The insurgent blue in the senate voted against this measure.

Senators Borah and Reed did not come to Chicago to speak in the interests of the Republican party.

A Chicago paper, speaking of Senator Borah's speech, said: "Coming only a few hours after the ringing oration of Senator Reed of Missouri, who also burned all his party bridges, gave rise to the suggestion that the summer may witness the launching of a new party, led by Borah and Reed." If this is so, why should these men be interested at this time in the Senate?

Those who want to organize a new party are at liberty to go ahead as they have started, but they have no right to select Republican candidates in Illinois.

The scare of these campaigners is predicted upon our next step being that of joining the League of Nations. This is a selfish politics designed to muddy the waters. I should oppose it. I always have been, and now and shall continue to be, opposed to the League of Nations.

Borah, Reed and Shipstead assert that they have inaugurated a campaign which contemplates defeating all present senators who voted for the World Court and who are up for election in the spring primaries. The bloc of objectors and obstructionists led by these men, including Brookhart, Frazier and LaFollette, is well known to the country. They would wipe out the regular Republican majority in the Senate. I stand first in their path because the Illinois primaries come first.

The Republican party and the Democratic party had both pledged themselves to the World Court as a step toward perpetual peace and against war. Representatives from millions of our people had petitioned Congress for it. It had some time before been endorsed by a vote of 361 to 28, and with the approval of the people. I am not prepared to believe that all these are weak-minded or are traitorous to the best interests of our common country. This bill was the only thing on the subject before us. Reservations had been provided forever guaranteeing the integrity and the independence of the United States. It came as an administration measure, in accord with the party platform pledge. I voted "yes" along with 78 of those members of the Senate who are doing the thinking, the working and the legislating for the country as against 18, almost all habitual objectors and obstructionists, including Borah an Independent Republican; Reed and Blease, insurgent Democrats, and Brookhart, Frazier, Shipstead and LaFollette, non-partisan leaguers, farm-laborites, etc.

I could have dodged the issue, but I didn't do so. I voted for the World Court and stand by my action until something better is proposed for the great humanitarian purpose of protecting our nation against war. Beyond any doubt, had I done otherwise my opponent, in his effort to be elected, would have attacked me, and with good reason, for repudiating the Republican platform upon which I was elected and for helping hinder President Coolidge from fulfilling his pledge to the American people to carry out the program adopted in the national convention.

If these objectors, now so loudly declaiming, are interested in saving the country instead of running for President, had something better to offer, why didn't they bring it forward then when the matter was before Congress instead of now when it is behind us? What do they propose even now? Nothing.

My opponent for re-nomination, at this time, is expressing an opinion on this matter, but it is not consistent with his record up to the time he became a candidate. He was a delegate to the last Republican National Convention and acquiesced in the adoption of a resolution which pledged me and the party to the World Court. His campaign manager, then a member of the lower house of Congress, voted for it in that body. These men, now, and unfortunately, appear as objectors, not as a matter of principle but as expedient to their political ambitions.

Candidate Smith's platform first announcing his candidacy stated that he was for the World Court with reservations. He has now repudiated his own action and the vote of his manager in Congress, repudiated President Coolidge and the Republican party, and daily he announces to his audiences that if nominated he will go to Washington and vote with Blease, Borah, Brookhart, Reed, LaFollette and Shipstead to save the country from the rule of President Coolidge and the Republican party.

George Washington has recently been freely quoted and misquoted. President Coolidge points out that "There was nothing about him of the small American" when Washington said: "It shall be for the best interests, for all time, for the nation to maintain friendly relations with all European nations, but entangling alliances with none." This is exactly the spirit in which Congress accepted the World Court and rejected the League of Nations. I reiterate, I stand by that and ask those Republicans of Illinois who believe in their party to stand with the Republican platform, President Coolidge and the Republican party.

WHAT PROPOSED NEW ELECTRIC RATES MEAN TO JACKSONVILLE

This company has offered in good faith a proposed reduction in light and power rates for the users of electricity in Jacksonville. The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce have this proposition under consideration. In order that users of electricity may be informed as to the proposed new schedules the following summary is given:

50% Reduction for Cooking, Refrigeration and Oil Burning

A new rate is established for users of electric ranges, refrigeration and oil burning equipment, either in the home or in business, that will reduce the cost of current used for these purposes by more than ONE-HALF. Separate meter for this service will be furnished without charge.

Retail Power Reduction

UNDER THE PROPOSED NEW RETAIL POWER RATE THE FOLLOWING REDUCTIONS ARE MADE:

100 to 500 K. W. H.	from 2.5% to 7.2% reduction
500 to 1,000 K. W. H.	from 6.3% to 10.3% reduction
1,500 K. W. H.	14.2% "
2,000 K. W. H.	16.5% "
3,000 K. W. H.	19.0% "
4,000 K. W. H.	20.4% "
5,000 K. W. H.	17.4% "
6,000 K. W. H.	15.2% "
7,000 K. W. H.	13.4% "
8,000 K. W. H.	12.1% "
9,000 K. W. H.	11.0% "
10,000 K. W. H.	10.0% "

This schedule and the wholesale power schedule now in effect, give this city a power rate as low as other Illinois cities with populations from two to four times the size of Jacksonville. It places Jacksonville on a real competitive basis with other cities in its trade territory.

Lower Lighting Rates

The proposed new general lighting schedules provide for reductions in the cost of electricity for lighting purposes ranging approximately from 2 per cent to 7.5 per cent. This reduction likewise places Jacksonville on a basis comparable with the other cities.

Service to All at All Times

This company calls attention to the fact that it does not endeavor to and cannot quote rates to compete with schedules that might be offered by promoters of a municipal plant designed to serve a limited territory, with limited capacity and dependent to a degree upon assistance for its support from the municipality.

The generating and distribution equipment of Illinois Power & Light Corporation is adequate to serve all the power and light needs of Jacksonville now and for years to come.

We appreciate the fact that SERVICE means as much as rates to the household and the business man. On this basis we offer these proposed rate schedules. We will be pleased to give any additional detailed information that any of our customers may desire.

BILL INTRODUCED FOR ARMY BUILDINGS

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The corner stone of an administrative housing program for the army was laid today with the introduction of a bill by Chairman Morin of the house military committee to authorize a score of building projects at a total cost of $6,520,000.

New barracks, officers' quarters and hospitals at posts throughout continental United States and in Panama and Hawaii would be undertaken under the measure as the beginning of a reconstruction plan upon which the war department hopes eventually to spend more than $100,000,000.

All of the construction proposed under the Morin bill and more can be paid for out of the proceeds of sales of army real estate, disposition of which is authorized in a measure which became a law today upon its signature by President Coolidge.

COOLIDGE IS SILENT ON CANAL CONTROVERSY

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—President Coolidge intends to remain non-committal on proposals to construct a ship canal either via the St. Lawrence river or across New York from Lake Ontario to the Hudson until he had investigated which route is most practicable.

The white house announced today that he was remaining neutral in the midst of a barrage of arguments showered down about him. To this barrage Secretary Wilbur added today an open letter denying indirectly a charge that he was playing politics when he recently pointed out the benefits of the all-American-Ontario-Hudson route. This route has been declared impracticable by army engineers, but Chairman Dempsey of the house rivers and harbors committee favors it.

"The navy department," said Mr. Wilbur in a letter to Mr. Dempsey, "has expressed no opinion whatever upon the feasibility of this canal or the desirability of the opinion that if such a canal is constructed it would be of incidental value to the national defense."

WISCONSIN, INDIANA SHOW PRELIM SPEED

CHICAGO, March 12 (AP)—Wisconsin and Indiana entrants turned in the best performance in the quarter and half mile preliminaries tonight to the sixteenth annual indoor track and field championship of the western conference at Northwestern University tomorrow night. Kennedy of Wisconsin, flashing thru the mile run in 53 1-10 seconds, led four qualifiers in this event. The others were Chulitz and Roberts, Iowa, and Felsinger, Michigan. The best time in the half mile qualifying heat was made by Caine of Indiana, two minutes and 36 seconds. Five others qualified.

Martin, Northwestern; Cusick, Chicago; Stevenson, Iowa; Erickson, Wisconsin and Arnold, Ohio State.

By placing three men in the two events, which were the only preliminaries required, Iowa insured a position as strong contender for first honors in the meet which it has demonstrated in previous meets this season.

The other Big Ten schools which have shown unusual strength in previous track events are Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. A possible record performance in the sixty yard high hurdles in which Captain Guthrie of Ohio State and Werner of Illinois are expected to fight it out for first place.

Athletic directors of the Big Ten meeting here today and tomorrow will witness the meet.

The Quadrangle

WHITE FIRE. By Louis Joseph Vance. E. P. Dutton Co. 1925. $2.00. Reviewed by CAROLINE HUMPHREY REID

The much-discussed Domestic Triangle seems to have developed of late into a Quadrangle—as several of the "popular Novelists" have been recently presenting marital complications. One of the latest, Louis Joseph Vance's "White Fire" presents the problem thus:

Tabor Wynne and June his wife, apparently a happy married couple, Lance Fairless and Jennifer Challis, connected by lines of long standing; Miss Challis as actress who has given "all for love," and Fairless trying to break loose from her and "honing after" June.

Mr. Vance is one of the "lightest" of present day magazine serial writers, and while one does not wish to take him too seriously, it is worth while to consider the type of story which reaches so vast a number of readers through the popular magazines. We may prefer to leave the serious to the serious, but since this is the Author's 25th novel within twenty years, one should not be surprised to find more than the usual number of shortcomings nor should one expect any very valuable contribution in the line of social ethics.

The hero of "White Fire" is Tabor Wynne, representative of a First Family of Philadelphia—a family dating back to the days of Penna—and adding by his ability, integrity and personal charm still more distinction to the honor of the name. His impeccable character and social status are firmly established at the outset, since they alone can give a show of respectability to the rather lurid events which develop later in the tale. He enters in the first act as a brilliant and successful lawyer of forty-odd (curious how many authors give away their own age) with the thought of his advancing years in contrast to the youth of an adored and entrancingly beautiful wife. June had "been married to" the wealth and position of The Wynnes without either loving or appreciating their representative. Gay, fascinating, undisciplined, by her "elderly" husband, she was the bright center of a fast set, and when our story opens was passionately in love with one of their number, Lance Fairless, reckless and irresponsible scion of another wealthy family of the Quaker City.

Tabor, dressing for a formal dinner, sees his wife in flimsy peach-bloom draperies clasping about her throat a necklace of black pearls, the gift of Fairless. "Imitation" she gives her husband to understand, and works herself into a passion when he protests at her use of them, since her integrity as a Wynne is outraged by his wife wearing imitation jewelry. However, he cannot question their effectiveness as part of her costume when he later watches her, scintillating, at the head of his own table, a thrill of uneasiness visits him however as he catches the look of passionate admiration on the face of Young Fairless, and he returns for the hundredth time to the thought of his own age in contrast to June's youth. His little girl! And what she proposes for the next day a trip to New York with "Sister Mary and Ted" he pleads business engagements, but he urges her to go and "have a good time." She is gone when he wakes the next morning; but when an unexpected message calls him to New York, he decides to wire June and stay for a "week."

With the thought of their difference over the pearls—their first "quarrel" which had been troubling him all day—he plans a surprise for her; the purchase of a necklace of real pearls, when they should go shopping together. Meantime, Lance Fairless, trying to free himself from his liaison with the young actress, had brought Wynne as his lawyer an envelope containing ten thousand dollars as purchase-money for letters written the girl when his passion was at its height.

Arriving at the City, Tabor does not find June's party at the hotel where they are in the habit of stopping and as calls at several of the better hostesses fail to locate them, to fill the time until his business appointment he decides to take a hunt for the pearls. As the first step he visits his bank and cashes a check (shades of Bank Directors!) for "enough thousands to buy the Russian Crown Jewels," then visits several prominent jewelers—thus effectually, as you will notice, in making his own trail, and providing rain de terre for the morrow's tragedy.

Later he locates the actress Jennifer Challis in an obscure hotel. He finds her, almost to his dismay, a quiet, refined, and distinguished looking woman; is completely in Fairless' promises of marriage, and feels more than ever a distance for the offer. Jennifer, hearing of his offer, brings, thrusts into his hands the package of letters now rendered worthless to her, indignantly refusing the proffered money. Tabor, embarrassed, indignant on his own account, realizing for the first time the despicable meanness of his client's action, stands hesitating in the dark corridor outside Jennifer's dingy apartment, when a door of the end of the passage opens, a boy comes out with bags and suit cases, and a man and woman follow. "He cannot trust his own eyes. Yes,

MY TREASURES

I've just been asked to sort my books
And throw away the useless.
I make a bold attempt—but how
Can mortal be so ruthless?

I take them down, dust each one off
With gentle hand and fearful.
I rearrange the tattered leaves
Meticulously careful.

Now here's a book I've often read—
I'll not again regard it;
I take it from the shelf, glance o'er
The leaves. Shall I discard it?

I toss it down, then pick it up
For one last parting look,
Remove the dust, put back the tome—
At that, a book's a book.

—W. ALBERT HICKOX

SAY AND HEARSAY

Of all the natural objects that play a part in the literature of the imagination, hills and mountains are one of the greatest sources of inspiration. The mountains and the sea—can't you almost imagine the dependence of literature upon one or the other? And where there is neither, neither is there any great literature or inspiration.

The thought itself is more ably put into verse by that almost forgotten poet, Samuel Rogers, in his "Italy"—which by the way is worthy of careful perusal now for the sake of recent developments in that "twice-shining" country—as follows:

Who first beholds the Alps—that mighty chain
Of mountains, stretching on from east to west,
So massive, yet so shadowy, so ethereal,
As to belong rather to heaven than earth—
But instantly receives into his soul
A sense, a feeling that he loses not.
A something that informs him 'tis a moment
Whence he may date henceforward and forever!

Rogers is (to refresh the reader's memory) the author of a blank verse version of the story of Geneva, the bride who found her grave in a chest with a spring lock, into which she had playfully concealed herself on the day of the wedding, to be discovered some fifty years later, a skeleton mouldering among her imperishable jewels.

And the little stanza, the final one in a poem of six, still often quoted:

That very law which moulds a tear,
And bids it trickle from its source,
That law preserves the earth a sphere,
And guides the planets in their course.

But for an acknowledgment of the real majesty and potency of the high places of the earth, what can rival that verse of the 21st Psalm:

"I will lift up mine eyes to the hills, from whence cometh my help."
Only a dweller near to hills and mountains, or one who occasionally communes with them, can appreciate all that is implied in that verse. Perhaps the occasional visitor is the more impressed, and the more liable to put his impressions into language that may become literature, in proportion as his thoughts are genuine and his ability is natural.

For a dweller in the plain, I have never been so impressed by mountains as I was by those of Southern California. But it was because I had the opportunity to see them under variable conditions—covered with snows in winter, wreathed in clouds and mists, or green with the robe of spring, streaked with the blue of lilacs and lupines, or the gold of poppies. Always the same mountains but what a wonderful and gorgeous wardrobe!

How often I caught myself gazing at them and wondering, just wondering. In the cities below them, very little change in the weather—invariably one beautiful sunny day after another. But the mountains were moody, and varied hour after hour, if only with the shadows they gathered about themselves.

And how I missed the sympathy of those mountains during a temporary sojourn in the vicinity of ghastly Painted Desert, for in each incarnation Julian meets and after thrilling experiences mates with the girls of his choice.

The book is above all else a scintillating satire. The Kelkars, described as those who thought that they thought. They were the Bolsheviks of the moon, and when they came to earth, the discontented and radical elements joined them, and their combined stupidity and ignorance destroyed the culture and refinement of the world.

Lack of preparedness is given a gentle jab by the author which he allows a world helpless and unarmed to be taken by the forces from the Moon, against which the small International Peace fleet could do nothing. Science, too, comes in for a shaft of satire—it was thru their use of science that Julian and Orthis brought ruin to the world. The book is well written with vivid and awe-inspiring scenes, descriptions of strange peoples and unheard-of hand-to-hand battles, hand-to-hand combats, unequaled mountain scenes, strange cities and the pitiable remnants of a once mighty civilization on earth are all put before the reader, who will either follow the story thru with breathless interest, or lay the book aside, saying that it is all imagination anyway. However, we think few persons who possess in their beings a hunger for romance and adventure, will want to leave the book uncompleted, once they have read the opening chapter.

Who first used the term, "the melting pot," to describe the United States as a receptacle for immigrants? The term was popularized when Israel Zangwill wrote his famous play with this title, in 1908. But it is said that the expression was used by Carl Schurz many years before. It appears again in "The Melting-Pot Mistake," by Henry Pratt Fairchild, Professor of Sociology at New York University.

The March meeting of the local circle of Bookfellows will be held at the public library Tuesday evening the 16th, at seven o'clock. The program, the members are expected to bring each an original poem of any description to be read at the meeting.

Whatsoever happens I can never go back," he said. And since there was no more a Tabor Wynne in the world? He opened a joint bank account with "Mrs. Drew" and rented a comfortable up-town flat. It's a strain on our credulity to be asked to believe that any man, especially a prominent business man, could expect to live the rest of his life incognito so near the city of his birth. But Jennifer, only stipulating that the arrangement was to end at once whenever either of them came to feel that there was danger, acquiesced. The "danger" which Jennifer, however, was already realizing, she knew that her protectiveness, her gratitude, her comradeship was long since merged in an overwhelming love, so we are not surprised to read over Tabor's shoulder one morning, the note left on his desk, and to learn that his friend and companion has returned to the hard life of an actress on the east of a traveling company.

Of course we understand that in the end the hero and heroine are to "live happily ever after," else how could a "popular" novelist hope to hold his public? To we have a rocky road to travel

A Study in Futures

THE MOON MAID. By Edgar Rice Burroughs. A. C. McClurg & Co. $2.00.

Reviewed by E. C. RUTHERFORD

This new book by the well known author of the Tarzan series is a stupendous piece of imagination. It is based on the more or less familiar theory of reincarnation, and deals with three distinct incarnations of the principal character. The book opens in 1967, a date sufficient at the outset to stir the imagination of the reader. The story is told by a stranger to a chance acquaintance as the two are seated in the luxurious stateroom of an overnight air liner en route from Chicago to Paris. The narrator is possessed of a strange ability to foresee future incarnations of his personality, the first of which takes in the fifth generation of his line in the 21st century.

In attempting a trip to Mars in a wonderful ship, this man, known as Julian 5th, an officer in the International Peace Fleet of the world, is with his companions compelled to land on the Moon. The second in command of the ship is Orthis, a life-long enemy and intellectual rival. It is Orthis who wrecks the delicate mechanism of the ship, which he alone knows how to repair, and thus compels the landing on the Moon.

However, instead of landing on the outer surface of the satellite, the ship falls thru a huge crater, and the adventurers find a strange world on the inner surface. Here the hero meets the Moon Maid and after strange experiences returns to earth with her in the ship, leaving his enemy Orthis. The earth is entirely at peace and unprepared for war. Orthis knows this and after nearly thirty years he returns with a thousand great ships and a hundred thousand Moon men and wrecks the world. Both Julian 5th and Orthis perish in a battle in which each tries by the use of terrible weapons fashioned of science, to destroy the other.

Julian 5th and Orthis are reborn with Julian 9th and Julian 20th and relate the struggle which the earth people had in freeing themselves from the Kelkars, or Moon men, whom Orthis had brought to earth. In four hundred years of darkness and unenlightened civilization, the earth people are wiped out, and the ends only when the hardy tribes of American warriors, in the year 2408 cross the passes into ancient California and in a last terrific battle around the once powerful Los Angeles defeat the Kelkars and utilizing their science, they enter the great sea, formerly known as the Pacific Ocean. Thru the entire book runs a good love story, in each incarnation Julian meets and after thrilling experiences mates with the girls of his choice.

The book is above all else a scintillating satire. The Kelkars, described as those who thought that they thought. They were the Bolsheviks of the moon, and when they came to earth, the discontented and radical elements joined them, and their combined stupidity and ignorance destroyed the culture and refinement of the world.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE SATISFIES PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, March 12.—
(AP)—President Coolidge apparently is satisfied with the way
Sunday is observed in the national capital and looks with disfavor upon blue laws proposals to put an end to Sunday sports, dancing and theatrical entertainment. The president goes to church regularly and doesn't get out much where government workers and others are seeking Sunday recreation. It was explained at the white house today that he realizes that this probably limits his opportunity to see whether the bars have been let down too far, and so far he has been able to observe the public generally is satisfied with present conditions.

While he was governor of Massachusetts, Mr. Coolidge signed a bill legalizing amateur Sunday baseball in the state, providing no admission to games was charged.

NEW YORK, March 12. (AP)—
The upward movement of prices resumed in today's stock market with the rails and oils again in the forefront of the advance.

Scattered profit-taking and bear selling took place, however, in the main body of industrial stocks. Trading showed a substantial falling off in volume the day's sales totaling 1,357,000 shares, or about 500,000 below those of yesterday. Bullish sentiment was created by the improvement in the credit position, as indicated by the substantial decrease in brokers' loans in the week ended March 3, the decrease in re-discounts last week and the continuance of relatively easy money rates.

Delaware and Hudson led the advance in the railroad group by soaring nearly eight points to 174, the highest price since 1912 on rumors of an early distribution of its coal company assets.

Nickel Plate common closed
nearly six points higher at 163.
Buying of the steel shares was stimulated by reports of a substantial increase in inquiries in the first 10 days of March and by rumors of an early resumption of dividends on Republic Steel.

U. S. common closed 3¢ higher at 147, after being sold slightly above that figure.

The principal commodity markets were better. Call money held steady at four percent all day.
Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged. Foreign exchanges were irregular.
Demand sterling and French francs held relatively steady at $4.83 and 3.64 cents, respectively. Scandinavian rates rallied briskly, Danish kroner soaring 18 points to 26.30 and Norwegian krone 24 points to 21.89 cents.
